Did you know?

Did you know that as cheese ages, the lactose naturally breaks down? That means that many aged cheeses are safe to eat for those with lactose intolerance! Our aged gouda cheeses have little to no lactose. Most lactose is gone after about 3 months of aging in many cases. Lactose is a form of sugar, so check the sugar content on the nutrition label. Levels should be under 5 grams, preferably under 0.5 grams. Happy cheese eating!

New Products for 2016

This time of year brings us many catalogs full of new products for 2016. It is exciting to go through and pick out items that we think our customers will like. Pictured below are a few of the newest arrivals!

Recipe Corner

Artichoke Chicken Spread

Ingredients:

- 12 oz. chicken breasts, skinless, boneless, cooked, cubed
- 14 oz. artichokes, drained
- 1/2 cup green onions, minced
- 3 tsp. garlic, minced
- 1/2 cup parmesan cheese, shredded
- 1 cup Monterey Jack cheese, shredded
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1 tsp. pepper
- 1 cup sour cream or low-fat sour cream
- 1/2 cup Robert Rothschild Raspberry Honey Mustard Pretzel Dip
- 1 tsp. chili powder
- 1/4 tsp. paprika
- 1 baguette, sliced

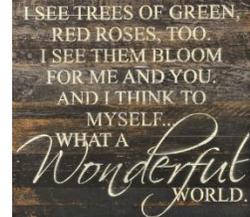

Instructions:

Preheat oven to 350°. Place chicken cubes in food processor. Pulse until coarsely ground. Add artichokes and pulse until chopped. Scoop into mixing bowl. Add green onions, garlic, Parmesan cheese, Monterey Jack cheese, salt and pepper. Mix well. In a small bowl, combine sour cream, Raspberry Honey Mustard Pretzel Dip and chili powder. Add to chicken mixture and mix well. Spray a 1 1/2 quart baking dish with cooking spray. Spoon mixture into dish. Sprinkle with paprika. Bake 25 minutes until heated through. Serve with baguette slices.

Second Nature By Hand

Over the past 3 years, Second Nature By Hand reclaimed wood signs have been some of our best selling items. We continue to bring in new items as they are available. We love their product and their story.

Below is a special message from owners Dave and Jennifer Tubbin.

Somehow, the hobby we love has turned into a growing business for our family. There is something special about handmade work. Handmade treasures contain soul, character and a story. Our story began about 15 years ago after creating our first pieces in the garage and taking them to a local art fair. Our early years were spent at art shows where we discovered, first-hand, the excitement people felt toward our handmade work. Since those early days of working until the wee hours in our garage, we have expanded our designs and production and now offer our work to trusted retailers around the country.

Our products are made in the Midwest to keep jobs, resources and money where they should be... local. When you purchase from Second Nature by Hand, you are helping a little girl get dance lessons, a boy get his team jersey and a family from small-town Wisconsin make a dream come true.
