New Product Spotlight: Eat Your Peas

We are excited for a new gift book series, Eat Your Peas. Cheryl Karpen launched Gently Spoken, a publishing and product development company in 1997. Her most popular series is the Eat Your Peas Collection, which features artfully illustrated, 72 page books, dedicated to helping others communicate love, hope, and encouragement when they can't find the words themselves.

Each book begins with a promise from the gift giver to the receiver, and is enough to warm your heart right here. The pages following provide words of encouragement.

We have 9 titles in our display, including daughters, faithfully, girlfriends, grandkids, mothers, sisters, new moms, someone special, tough times. The books include an envelope so that you can mail them directly to a friend, just as Cheryl did almost 20 years ago to a friend, which became the inspiration for her series of books. We hope you enjoy this books as much as we do!

DIY: Drying Acorns

Looking to preserve acorns for crafts or décor in your home? Follow these simple steps ensure you have insect-free, beautiful acorns!

1. Harvest freshly fallen acorns as soon as possible before squirrels, and insects, get to them.
2. Place acorns in a bowl of water to rinse them. Use a nylon-brush to clean if necessary.
3. Lay out acorns on a towel to dry for about 1 hour.
4. Preheat oven to 175 degrees. Place acorns on a cookie sheet with a lip.
5. Leave oven door cracked slightly. Turn acorns every half hour, baking for about 1 1/2 to 2 hours.
6. Cool acorns on a wire rack for about 1 hour before using. Caps can be glued on with hot glue if desired.
